Original teaching

Begin with Jesus and surrender your place in the home

Place your faith in Jesus Christ, who shed His blood for sinners and rose again. New birth is the Holy Spirit’s work as we believe the Gospel; the words of a household prayer express that faith. If you need to begin following Jesus, start with the foundation resources. Then bring your own life, relationships, responsibilities, and use of your home under His lordship. Stand as someone whose allegiance belongs to God.

Repent, forgive, and reject known sinful agreements

Examine the conduct you actually know: deceit, malicious words, sexual sin, intimidation, revenge, or an occult practice you have welcomed. Confess your own willing participation and turn from it. Forgive those who have hurt you, asking God for grace where the struggle is deep. Reject known ancestral occult allegiances and curses; repent of any willing participation of your own. Renounce sinful attachments you personally accepted. Keep legitimate family commitments intact while rejecting the sin or control that has corrupted a relationship.

Resist the spiritual work directed against your household

Ephesians 4 joins truthful living and forgiveness with refusing the devil a foothold. Ephesians 6 identifies demonic powers as spiritual enemies. Pray specifically against their attempts to exploit known sin, sustain occult allegiance, inflame hatred, or oppress your household. Reject curses and ungodly dedications directed against your life. Commands are addressed to spirits in Jesus' name; the people with whom you live remain people to love. Your authority rests in Christ, who is Lord.

Establish what belongs to the Holy Spirit

Ask the Holy Spirit to fill your life and direct the atmosphere you help create through conduct. Put worship, Scripture, prayer, gratitude, and truthful conversation into practice. Protect the vulnerable and make appropriate amends for harm you have caused. Forgiveness can be wholehearted while wise boundaries remain. Continue praying for each household member's salvation and obedience, entrusting their personal response to God. Preparing for prayer is a sincere response to Jesus, never a guarantee that a checklist has settled every spiritual question.

A complete prayer

Pray in faith, trusting Jesus Christ and the authority of His Word.

Father, I come to You through Jesus Christ, Your Son. I believe He shed His blood for my sins, died, and rose again. I place my faith in Him as Savior and Lord. Give me the new life of Your Spirit and establish me in the truth that I belong to You. I surrender my words, desires, relationships, and responsibilities within this household.

Bring my own conduct into Your light. Where I have chosen deceit, cruel speech, intimidation, sexual sin, bitterness, or rebellion, I repent. Forgive me and cleanse me through the blood of Jesus Christ. Strengthen me to stop what is wrong. Help me confess honestly and make appropriate amends. I will not defend a practice that contradicts Your Word or use another person's wrongdoing to excuse my own.

I bring before You those who have wounded me. I choose to release personal revenge and forgive them before You. Where my will is struggling, give me grace to become willing and obey. Let mercy uproot hatred while truth and righteous boundaries remain. Teach me to honor the people in this home without agreeing with their sin or surrendering my conscience.

I reject every known occult allegiance in my family and every curse connected with it. Where I willingly participated, I repent. I renounce every occult practice, sinful vow, or ungodly dedication I personally accepted. Where I have embraced sinful attachments or ungodly soul ties, I reject that agreement and yield the relationship to Your truth. I refuse every claim that another person's ritual or curse makes me their possession. No person or evil spirit owns my life. My worship and allegiance belong to Jesus Christ.

In the authority of Jesus Christ, I resist every demonic work seeking to exploit these renounced agreements or oppress this household. Every unclean spirit working through occult allegiance, hatred, deception, or sinful control: leave in Jesus' name. I reject curses, hexes, spells, and incantations directed against my life and ask You to overthrow their influence. The risen Jesus is Lord over every power of darkness.

Holy Spirit, fill my life and strengthen faithful obedience. Establish truth, love, self-control, prayer, and worship where I live. Protect those who are vulnerable and lead me to act with courage and compassion. Draw each household member toward salvation in Christ. Help me remove what I have renounced and practice what I have surrendered to You. Let this home witness Your mercy and power. In Jesus' name, amen.

I renounce the known occult allegiances, sinful attachments, and agreements with darkness I have accepted. In Your name, I resist the demonic work seeking to exploit them and command unclean spirits to leave. Holy Spirit, establish truth, worship, love, and obedience in my life and household. Amen.
